

HT1 (1D Batch) Rugged Handheld Terminal

HT1 1D Batch is the unitech latest compact handheld terminal. It is a pocket-sized mobile computer with superior data collection solution, suitable for a wide range of applications including retail, stocktaking, and Inventory checking.

Coming with intelligent imaging technology for high-performance scanning, the HT1 ensures read reliability for mobile phone screens and paper in any orientation. Running with Android 4.4 operating system, HT1 has a 2-inch LCD display without touch feature that supports 240x320 pixel resolutions, allowing users to get feedback of the scanned information immediately. Based on its pocket-sized design for one-handed operation, it is highly portable with simple keyboard layout that is easy to carry around and easier typing. HT1 1D Batch is an ideal tool to automate the capture of inventory data and allows user to take action quickly and accurately.

Engineering with industrial materials, HT1 is rugged enough to withstand multiple 1.5 meters drop to concrete and equipped with IP54 environmental seal against water and dust. Featuring a great adaptable design, the device provides high performance 1D CCD mini scan engine may expand your business into many new applications such as eCoupon, eTicket, Digital ID cards and mobile payments. HT1 1D Batch's imager automatically adjusts its parameters for optimal scanning performance which provides the freedom to scan barcodes from under complete darkness to direct sunlight.

With configurable scan rate between auto-adaptive mode and fixed mode, HT1 1D Batch scan engine is ideal for both high-speed scanning applications which require more motion tolerance and ambient light immunity. Combining with multi-functionality and lightweight design, unitech HT1 perfectly reflects its high performance at a best available price.

It is ideal for use to do stocktaking, logistics controlling and inventory management. Combining functionality with durable design, the unitech HT1 1D Batch provides the power for enterprise to streamline business processes and increase productivity and efficiency in all data collection applications.
